Pilot

The Notwist

He's living next the rails
He can tell you things of different cars and trains
Now he's trying the whole day
To switch off time by causing train delay

Could be enough
If only he's the pilot
Once a day

Could be enough
If only he's the pilot
Once a day

Not a word to compensate Not a sentence to describe this desperate state Not a picture to compare We step into a room of opaque air

Could be enough
If only we are pilots
Once a day
