

Everybody Wins

The Oak Ridge Boys

Bombs fly, angels cry
Tears that fall from the children's eyes
Rain that waters the bitter weed of hate
Choking out the tender heart
The strong survive but they bear the scars
Another generation where the smoke never clears away

Why can't we all get along with each other
Be a brother be a friend
If we loved each other more
There'd be nothing left to fight for
No contender no surrender
Everybody wins

Don't say you can't change
Human nature it's a greedy thing
Well I'm a believer
Where there's a will there's a way
And I believe in standin' up
You and yours but where there's love
We stand beside each other and we're not too proud to say
