

Every Afternoon

The Pietasters

Every afternoon I go downtown
To sit in your bar, and watch you
You have no idea that I'm around
Disgracing everything that you do

Please believe I just want a sign
One big smile or wave of your hand
I love you to the end of time
You might have another man, but..

Yesterday you wore your red hair down
The exit sign was sparkling brightly.
Then I heard your voice, that divine sound
You were humming something lightly.

My heart was pounding in my chest
Seems to me you're mesmerized
Words escape me under my breath
I wish you had somehow realized.

Every afternoon I go downtown
To sit in your bar, and watch you
You have no idea that I'm around
Disgracing everything that you do

Please believe I just want a sign
One big smile or wave of your hand
I love you to the end of time
You might have another man, but..

Please believe me I just want a sign
I'll love you 'til the end of time.....
