I have written enough as enough to sing for a song of remembering Everything moves everyone?s laughing, moving through the city of passing I?ve written enough, enough for a while,
I have written enough, enough for a while
And everything moves, we are the past,
everything moves, but outside these photographs,
everything dies, the cycles of time,
everyone is passing, passing, passing through 00 00 00 00
I remember the streets, I remember these faces, going through the ever ages
In these ever machines, crowdin? the streets, there must be some kind of factory where the angels are made, to just be replaced, I have written enough, enough for today
And everything moves, we are the past,
everything moves, but outside these photographs,
everything dies, the cycles of time,
everyone is passing, passing, passing through (Guitar Solo)
Passing, passing through
And everything moves, we are the past,
everything moves, but outside these photographs,
everything dies, the cycles of time,
everyone is passing, passing, passing, passing, passing, passing, passing, passing through 00 00,
Passing, passing through 00,00
Passing, passing through 00, 00
Through a song of remembering 00, 00
A song of remembering 00, 00
00,00
