

Distaste

The Story So Far

Tell me how your life's played out down south in the sun
Missing school, so you go out every night and try to have fun
And you still deny and try to hide the smoke from your gun
Think I'll slip inside and start making you aim at everyone

Why'd you leave it?
Is it because what I chose?
Can you look in my face and explain why you put
Someone else in my place?
And I don't wanna hear about your trips
And all the time that you waste
No, I'd rather not, I hate the thought
It's such a distaste

I'll never match your thievery, as far as this goes
You can't say you never fucked with me cause everyone knows
And why you always poison everything I try to grow?
Calm somehow, but rising now someday I'll let you know

Don't hold much respect for you now
What did you expect to see?
Don't need to accept your ways now
Go be who you want to be

Why'd you leave it?
Is it because what I chose?
Can you look in my face and explain why you put
Someone else in my place?
And I don't wanna hear about your trips
And all the time that you waste
No, I'd rather not, I hate the thought
It's such a distaste
