Arrows in the Dark

Bound for the black country as the light recedes behind Upon the white odonata Witch's vision as their guide

Be wary and keep watch tonight Make sure your weapon's at hand Here in the land where shines no light death can strike you where you stand

There in the ruins borne of darkness Approaching the altar as the arrows begin to fly

Beware the tribes of night They take no one alive

So stay wary and keep watch tonight Make sure your weapon's at hand Here in the land where shines no light death can strike you where you stand