

Where Do You Go?

The Trews

In the eye of the hurricane
Everything is alright
Look for somewhere to hide the pain
And maybe you can sleep tonight
Up and down like mercury
You're hot and cold and crazy
You need a centre of gravity
Someone to tell you maybe

You can take a vow of silence
Go fast for forty days
Chase down desire like Brando in the rain

Where do you go?
When your garden don't grow
Nobody knows
Where do go?

You never learned how to stand up for yourself
Anything can take you down
Another son of a bitch with a book to sell
Get your feet on shakey ground

Snake oils, crystals
New age, cool aid
Buy in, show them
Your money, honey

And take your vow of silence
Go fast for forty days
Raise your vibrations and change your name

Where do you go?
When your garden don't grow
Nobody knows
Where do go?

In your eyes I see there's somewhere you wanted to be
In your eyes I see there's someone kinda like me
In your eyes I see

Your love is enough
Your love is enough
Don't fall for this stuff
Don't worry because
Your love is enough

Where do you go?
When your garden don't grow
Nobody knows
Where do go?