

Untouchable

The Undertones

I can't deny these foolish hands of mine
Have towed me in the dark
A collision course that has hit the rocks
Has now pierced my heart
I'm stricken down by deceptive moves
What's meant is meant to be
Who'd try console a losing side
When that losing side is me

So now I'll go step out of line
The untouchable is a touch too fine
A crazy lust that strips me bare
A tarnished whim that just will not wear

I've witnessed sin that made me swallow deep
And haunt me till I'm dead
A silent voice that only speaks the truth
Is gagged and bound instead