

This Is It

The Wood Brothers

This is it and only this
And all the things I think I miss
Make me miss this one and only this
And that's all there is and it shouldn't be missed

This is me and only me
And all the dreams that set me free
Make me miss this one and only me
That's all there is and ever will be

Why do I try to change the world
Why do I try to change the world
If all I need is some love

And this is me and that is you
And all the things I thought I knew
Made me do things that I would do
And I don't know why it's all I knew

Why do I try to change the world
Why do I try to change the world
If all I need is some love

I wanna to know what's below it all
Where there's no either/or at all
Where there's no this or that
Only this
Only this
Only this
Yeah only this
Only this
Only this

(This is it, only this, only things I think I'll miss)
(This is it, only this, only things I think I'll miss)

Why do I try to change the world
Why do I try to change the world
Why do I try to change the world
Why do I try to change the world
If all I need is some love
If all I need is some love
If all I need is some love
