

I'll Be Haunting You

They Might Be Giants

Flipping this one final switch I'm effectively insuring that I will be

Overcoming all resistance long after my remains have been Vaporized with extreme prejudice and shot into outer space

I'll be haunting you

Need I remind you of the oath you swore in 1993

Don't act like you don't act like you know why you flinch at the image of these words

That permanently skywritten in the ashes of my incinerated legacy

I'll be haunting you

I'll be haunting you

I'll be haunting you as you are staring into outer space

My absence has been weaponized the empty sockets where my eyes
Are swiveling to recognize and pin you down

I'm the ringing in your ears rewriting all your fears

And you're the only one who hears the sound

Telltale beating floorcase on this unreleasing remix

That rises like a phoenix from the ground

I'll be haunting you

I'll be haunting you

I'll be haunting you as you take in your outer spatial views

When you look up you'll remember me and then I'll be haunting you
