

No Guarantee

Tom Jones

She has no illusions,
She can see me for what I am.
And sometimes it's confusing
Love is hard to understand.

I have no prediction
What will happen in the end,
My life's a contradiction
But I want her just the same.

And maybe this is all that love should be:
Just taken and it comes no guarantee.

I have no conception
what is really happiness
My dreams are all reflections
And where they lead I'll never guess.

But we have no precaution
We have thrown it to the wind.
Love's an ocean we are crossing
And we may never meet again.

And maybe this is all that love should be:
Just taken and it comes no guarantee.

Yes maybe this is all that love should be:
Just taken and it comes no guarantee.
