

Love Changes the World

Tom Paxton

A daddy takes his little child, and holds it by the hand
By and by that little child, discovers she can stand
For love, changes the world

The first few steps are shaky; she tries a couple more
And as she's made a way to momma, clear across the floor
For love, changes the world

I can see a whole world change before me
As I watch that little child grow
Every step that child takes
Every move that child makes
Shows me that love is all we need to know

Little child is walking now; she calls her momma's name
And nothing in her universe, will ever be the same
For love, changes the world

For love, changes the world

I can see a whole world change before me
As I watch that little child grow
Every step that child takes
Every move that child makes
Shows me that love is all we need to know

Little child is walking now; she calls her momma's name
And nothing in her universe, will ever be the same
For love, changes the world
Love, changes the world
Oh love, changes the world
And love, changes the world
