

My Job Here is Done

Tub Ring

Oh pack all my things, it's time for me to go
Listen up, first there's something you should know
My time will come again
My time will come my friends

A brief flash, it comes our way
And on such a beautiful day
Analyze the sum of all things
The total was one

And this must have worked somehow
'Cause everything is perfect now
And you can take everything back
My job here is done

No one expected such a massive endeavor
So all the praises sung will echo forever

False hope and a rocky start
One landscape torn apart
And there were skeptics
About what was begun

It won't pass if it's not serene
The codes red, but the grass is green
And I'm taking everything back
My job here is done

Pack all my things, it's time for me to go
Listen up, first there's something you should know
My time will come again
My time will come my

Sleep now, it's getting late
Soon we will participate
In learning all the methods and the ends

Weapons are just for sport
'Cause there's nothing to report
Boredom is the only thing you fend

Moments pass, I'm forced to sit
Humbled by the scope of it
Ridding all dissention and all the pain

Hours now will chip away
Passion died upon that day
Curiosity was left to blame
