

Let Me Feel

Tyler Ward

A man of science
A man of solutions
A man of compliance
And making up rules when she's lying there crying
Saying 'why are you trying to fix me like I'm broken? I'm not broken. I'm just tired'

Will you let, will you let, will you let me feel?
Will you let, will you let, will you let me feel?
I don't really give a damn if my fears aren't real
Will you let me feel?
Just let me feel

Will you hold my hand?
Will you call me weak when I can hardly stand
On my own two feet, when I don't understand
I would love you through hell
Still you treat me like a problem, like I'm just something for solving

Will you let, will you let, will you let me feel?
Will you let, will you let, will you let me feel?
I don't really give a damn if my fears aren't real
Will you let me feel?
Just let me feel

I lost the love of my life when I was trying to hide
From all my demons, by keeping things in
Their proper places, I know she was not mine to control
I wish I'd seen it
Wish I'd believed it

Will you let, will you let, will you let me feel?
Will you let, will you let, will you let me feel?
I don't really give a damn if I ever heal
Will you let me feel?
Just let me feel
