

Fall of Pangea

Valient Thorr

Before the dawning of mankind other creatures roamed this land
They were from a far off time and they brought with them a plan From a dying portal in the sky it came, a grey transporter set the sky ablaze, It was raining fire from the heavens In search of sanctuary to the earth they came, all life before this point had just been washed away asteroids and comets ripped right through the atmosphere laid waste to all the dinosaurs its a cycle, its a cycle thats been going on since before this world began, even though they cause destruction they're vital they're a vital part of reality, the spores in side were alive, when the dust settled over the oceanbed they watched it they watched the natural process of evolution in the raw, lifeforms grew in the water and this is what they saw they saw volcanoes, Earth was a wreck, the cooling of the lava produced a side effect
they saw amoeba combine with light, they saw the first thing crawl on land and try to walk upright they saw the dolphin, they saw the ape, the combination of the two would help the world take shape (they bred them) on the beaches, it was called Pangea population spread so fast it caused an imbalance, but that couldn't stop em even then,

c'mon!
let's get on the road, i got somethin to show, pull up yr roots, and pack yr bags, let's go!
pack yr bags- let's go to the mountain and then you will see the place where Pangea Ma-jor used to be the tectonic plates moved where workers had mined the shift in the continents divided mankind Tidal waves broke the goddamned thing in half, seven pieces that wouldn't last spread like germs, thats the human virus form seeds were planted here on earth, young mothers then gave birth they remembered the men from the sky, named them gods and never questioned why? climb up the mountain and see for yrself, the ice caps are melting away from the shelf

the earth is evolving, you must have forgot, the life on this planet has only one shot.
Tidal waves broke the goddamned thing in half, seven pieces that wouldn't last earth's been silent many times, you seem to forget: we are temporary you are temporary we're all temporary
