

Unlock the Lock

Vanessa Carlton

Feel it come on like a sudden hope
Bursting through a lost dome
It's beautiful as the sadness starts to quiet

Leave the city for a desert sky
It's like one big eye on you
The storm is now and the horses wanna run
And they run

You know what you should do
You choose not to go
The keys hangs low around your neck
I know what you know

Unlock the lock
Unlock the lock
Unlock the lock

Follow your feelings, but it doesn't matter
Like a pact you remember once
Something's coming in on you and it's pure
Is it love?

You know what you should do
You choose not to go
The keys hang low around your neck
I know what you know

Unlock the lock
Unlock the lock
Unlock the lock

Unlock the lock
Unlock the lock
Unlock the lock

Feel it come on like a sudden hope
Bursting through a lost hope
Beautiful as the sadness starts to quiet
It is love
It is love