

You repair all that we have torn apart and You unveil a new beginning in our hearts and We stand grateful for all that has been left behind and
All that goes before us

You've got all things suspended
All things connected
Nothing was forgotten
'Cause your love is perfect
You are our healer
And you know what's broken
And we're not a mystery to you
(to you, oh Lord, to you)

We will dance 'cause you restore the wasted years and You will sing over all our coming fears and We'll stand grateful for all that has been left behind and all that goes before us

Lord, you mend the breach
And you break every fetter
You give us your best, but what we thought was better
And you are to be praised
You are to be praised (4x)

(to you, oh Lord, mender of the broken)
