

Break It Don't Buy It

Wheatus

I took warrior classes
Where I learned to kick asses
But I never even saw you coming
Well, you left all your books
So I had me a look
And I read where it said that you didn't even like me

And it's true
I's a fool for you anyway
Yeah, it's true

You're a ninja assassin
Sent to kill by your captain
On a homicidal mission just to cut me down, down, down
On the fourteenth level
We're gonna fight like the devil
Up and down, paint the town, blood and guts on the walls

And it's true
I's a fool for you anyway
Yeah, it's true

It was a weird, weird summer
It was a weird, weird summer with you
It was a weird, weird summer
It was a weird, weird summer with you
It was a weird, weird summer
It was a weird, weird summer with you
It was a weird, weird summer
It was a weird, weird summer with you

Who knew that what we had wasn't really real?
Who knew that what we had wasn't really real? (Everybody)
You knew that what we had wasn't really real

Why did you break it when you weren't gonna buy it?
Why say you love it when you didn't even like it?
Why did you think it when you weren't gonna eat it?
Why did you take it if you knew you would mistreat it?
I think you came 'cause you didn't like your home
I think that you should've left me on my own
Why did you have to punish me for your daddy's lies?
He fell in love and I paid the price
