

Season of the Shark

Yo La Tengo

You need someone to hide behind
I don't mind, well I don't mind
You need to be alone to unwind
That's alright, that's alright

Sure I know it's hard
You know that it's that way for everyone for everyone
Somethings go wrong
They sink so low you even blame the sun
Blame it at the ...
Of the shadows on the wall
They're not as bad as they appear
Could it be that it's the season of the shark

You need someone to help you through well, I don't know, I don't know Someone to take a chance for you
I don't know, I don't know

I want to be the one to make you fell okay right now
Someway somehow
When I fall short
I sink so low I even blame the clouds
Blocking out the sun
And the shadows on the wall
That is why you fell alone
Could it be that it's the season of the shark

Please don't be afraid
No matter how much out there scares you so
Scares you so
Just look around
If it's not me, then someone else you know
You're not alone at all
Ignore the shadows on the wall
They don't mean a thing
Could it be that it's the season
I believe that it's the season of the shark
Could it be that it's the seas