She doesn't love you - like I do She doesn't have my name However she tries - to act like it She'll never be the same

But she's new and she's beautiful You've never been in a fight Yeah it's awfully perfect now But you just know deep inside

She's not me She's not me She's not me Baby She's not me

Does she

Make you feel wanted - like I did?

Make you feel like you're the one thing that matters?

You let her head rest - on your chest

But when you close your eyes

You'll be seeing my face again
I'll be crossing you mind
You'll be dreaming of places we went
And then you'll wake up to find

That she's not me She's not me She's not me Remember That she's not me

She's not me She's not me
