I don't think you love me Confusion settling in I don't think I'll be staying Around here, anymore

There's no question that I love you But I'm living in my own time And here I am debating Whether I'm wrong, or right

Who am I to make a judgment of your life? I'm only passing by, passing by

All the promises I gave you
Helped me to survive
And all the times I wished you'd save me
You were the love of my life

Who am I to make a judgement of your life? I'm only passing by, passing by Who am I to make a judgment of your life? I'm only passing by, passing by

Who am I to make a judgment of your life? I'm only passing by, passing by
