

(I've Got) Levitation

13th Floor Elevators

Heading for the ceiling, I'm up off the floor
I've broken my horizon, out-distancing my door
High above the ant hills in among the planes
Swooping down to hear the sound and movements of the trains

I don't need these wings to guide me
They are hardly ever there
It's the clear I make inside me
Makes me feel light as air

I've got levitation
I've got levitation
I've got levitation

The ocean rolls below me, expanding plastic views
My vision cones to nearest land and brings me latest news
The waves of higher bodies soon dazzling in my ears
Will center my vibrations with the music of the spheres

I don't need these wings to guide me
They are hardly ever there
It's the thing building up inside me
Makes me feel light as air

I've got levitation
I've got levitation
I've got levitation
I wanna fly now, fly

I've got levitation
I've got levitation
I've got levitation

I've got levitation
I've got levitation
I've got levitation
