

Problem Addict

156/Silence

Nothing to please you

You problem addict, caught in a fog
Brought to life to only be forgotten
You aren't wanted
Funny how you devolved
Never paused to learn the lesson taught
'Cause you're a one-trick pony trotting down a dirt road of disaster
One-trick pony trotting down a dirt road of disaster
Where's your master, you motherfucker?

Desolation sinks in
It's a meager dissent
As the fallacy lives
Don't you wish you gave in?

Covered under all of your woes
Accusations never made you stronger
Don't you wonder how the problems resolve?
Speculating nothing, you just follow

Half the time, you just fucking lie, all your pride down on the floor with
(All self-admiration)
While defiant, I won't deny this is all lacking of virtue (Processed to be burdened)
Not a crime to me to be violent to the ones that deserve it
(I scoff at the herding)
I'll be Pilate, you be Christ
Everyone you love will desert you just to hurt you
You fucking coward

Desolation sinks in
It's a meager dissent
As the fallacy lives
Don't you wish you gave in?

You're stuck under all of the weight you put upon yourself for no reason
You are on your two knees with fingers in your mouth, choking

For pleasure, you can't seem to get enough
Pulling inwards
(You are) Crawling towards the sources of your qualms, suffering

Calm, but inside, you tremble to the core
I can sense it
Gone and forgotten
You lacked the devotion
Receding to the place that you belong