

Spring

2AM

How was your commute to work today?
How were you in this warmed up weather?
You, who especially got cold easily.

For me, I was so busy this morning,
Because I was packing to move from this place I lived in for three years.

I remember the traces of us that still have our smudges on them
,
It all seems like yesterday.

Everyday I cried and laughed because of you,
All day, I was only filled with a fluttering heart,
It's alright (repeat three times),
I just need to leave them all here,
The memories, the traces, everything.

A lot of your stuff is still here,
I thought I didn't have any lingering attachments but,
Tears suddenly flow.

What do I do with each of the stacked up memories?
They are still so clear.

Everyday I cried and laughed because of you,
All day, I was only filled with a fluttering heart,
It's alright (repeat three times),
I just need to leave them all here,
The memories, the traces, everything.

I dreamed that you and I would live in this house,
The two of us, in love, together.

In the far future, when I look back,
I thought I would proudly be able to say,
That I really loved you.

Everyday I cried and laughed because of you,
All day, I was only filled with a fluttering heart,
It's alright (repeat three times),
I just need to leave them all here,
The memories, the traces, everything.