Icarean Tomb

2nd Suicide

Blind, broken, wings burnt to ashened coal Obliterated soul on a broken throne Severed from the ties of life and love

Of mirth and joy I drank once deep A swollen mirage of endless release Now break the spell in a violent glee Blood wash away the weak

Here resides Icarean tomb Inside a dead, cold Cyclopean womb

Left me stranded on the isle of chastening Without the will to live For the errs and misdeeds, the wantons and grieves The reprisal is at hand

Here resides Icarean tomb Inside a dead, cold Cyclopean womb

On the battered shore the tides decimate A crimson tinted twilight wake White flashes on the endless waterbed Heavens bellow an empty threat

Of stories never told Seeds of slumber, older than stone Springs forth a valiant beast The shame and lust released