

Serpents In Disguise

3

Have you come to die
Or have you come to learn?
The deeper do we dive
The longer to return
Said we won't survive
So now we have to burn
Crashing through the sky
I'll be coming home

And there's a look upon your face
As if there's something out of place
You disappear without a trace
Now you're going home
And I've seen the ghost that never dies
Stoking the fire behind your eyes
I read the words between the lies
I've seen the serpents in disguise

This moment speeding by
Is never to return
Running out of time
For lessons to be learned
Said we won't survive
So now we have to burn
Crashing through the sky
I'll be coming home

And there's a look upon your face
As if there's something out of place
You disappear without a trace
Now you're going home
And I've seen the ghost that never dies
Stoking the fire behind your eyes
I read the words between the lies
I've seen the serpents in disguise

Teardrops in the rain
They all look the same
Dancing down the drain
A signal out of range

And I've seen the ghost that never dies
Stoking the fire behind your eyes
I read the words between the lies
I've seen the serpents in disguise

And when I get those angels calling
Where did you go? I need to know
What is in my mind
This side of the waking world
Straight to the back of the line
By their design this happens every time

I lose my mind
'Cause you're so bright I go blind
Send us a sign, mercy for my kind
This side of the waking world

Will I be ready to find
When I hear those angels calling?
Where did you go? I need to know
What is in my mind
This side of the waking world
