

The Latest from Mars

3

Me and the latest from Mars
Clone our respective goodbyes
Shedding a skin full of scars
Peeling the lids from our eyes

I know they don't seem to care
I don't think they understand
I don't think they understand

Claire, where the hell of you been?
I've waited for more than an hour
Out there's a whole world of sin
Back home the milk has gone sour

I know they don't seem to care
I don't think they understand
I don't think they understand

Hopelessly out of control
Dividing yourself from your soul
You think I don't know what you've done
Right now it's 4:21

I know they don't seem to care
I don't think they understand
I don't think they understand

I think my brain is off
I'm just a little peculiar
A word goes in one ear
And into the future

To think I never saw you
I only pretended
Your show got preempted, though
And that's the truth

I know they don't seem to care
I don't think they understand
I don't think they understand

I know they don't seem to care
I don't think they understand
I don't think they understand