

Used to look up to the superstars

So I woke up as a superstar
And my life been like a shooting star
I can't handle all the stuff I see
I still live inside my crazy dreams

Corduroy on corduroy
And I'm feeling like the golden boy
Damn I'm pulling out my polaroid
Cause my fans they got me employed

And you got me asking why oh why
Baby why am I that guy
Are you hiding a disguise
And always try to lie oh lie

I was surfing all these channels on my parents old tv
Way too young to be thinking about what my life could be
Couldn't picture any future
If it wasn't like my dreams
Starting getting more excited every time I fell asleep
Always crashing then I'm up again
Dodging any consequence
Shy or overconfident
My mind has become dominant
Superstar oh superstar
Did you mean to get this far
Do you still know who you are
Does everything still feel bizarre

Superstar oh superstar
Did you mean to get this far
Do you still know who you are
Does everything still feel bizarre
Could you take a break if you wanted to
Could you fly away if you wanted to
Are those days still haunting you
Superstar superstar
What are you gonna do?