

Death Eater

36 Crazyfists

With every dream that has turned to dust
Rebuilding loss through elusive trust

I crawl with weighted breath
Since the end became much less
Skyline returns the moon to light up anything left

And what do we know now since the fame had such distaste?
Face in the mirror reflection full, reflection full of shame

What comes from below with mornings eye
Quickly reminds with reasons why

I crawl with weighted breath
Since the end became much less
Skyline returns the moon to light up anything left

And what do we know now since the fame had such distaste?
Face in the mirror reflection full, reflection full of shame

Long walk aftermath, smoke begins to clear
Real remain real, fake disappear
Head on instead, replace the pain
Eyes ahead, demise of those days
Head on instead, replace the pain
Eyes ahead, demise of those days

With every fall begin to eat
Deaths reminder of eternal sleep
Eternal sleep

I crawl with weighted breath
Since the end became much less
Skyline returns the moon to light up anything left

And what do we know now since the fame had such distaste?
Face in the mirror reflection full, reflection full of shame
And what do we know now since the fame had such distaste?
Face in the mirror reflection full, reflection full of shame