Save My Soul

I'm on my way up but I just keep fallin'
Waiting for the high to let me down slowly

I'm gon' blame it on these late nights
Hoping that it breaks my fall
I've been running through these red lights
Praying it might save my soul
'Cause I needed to go there

(Because I needed to go there
Because I needed to go there)

They know I've seen the #1s on that leaderboard
Seen 'em rise and then seen 'em fall
Understand that this won't be hard
I'm the one that's been keeping score
Always thought that I'd seen it all
Started thinking I needed more
Coming back to this game again
And it's everything that I've seen before
What they now do
Everything that I outgrew
It's the fight of my life, bitch
Yo, this the song I walk out to
They wanna try to take over now
Better give the people that how to
Hoping they will go further
Knowing it will give me something to outdo
Now you know that
60 be on that mainstage
Left a memory so nice
You think of me when they say grace
You know, though, that that game changed
I'm the one that can take blame
Did the shit when I'm fucked up
But now, picture on my a-game

I'm on my way up but I just keep fallin'
Waiting for the high to let me down slowly

I'm gon' blame it on these late nights
Hoping that it breaks my fall
I've been running through these red lights
Praying it might save my soul
'Cause I needed to go there

(Because I needed to go there
Because I needed to go there)

They know that I came up so fast
Hit the sky and then blacked out
They know me when I fall but
I get back up, I won't back down
Played the part in that background
Knew the world would come back round
When I picture my life then
I saw the one I have now

I'm all good, trust me
I told 'em all that I'd go nuts
Blown up where they won't touch
Boy, now I'm making my own luck
Used to call me that class clown
Can't believe that I've grown up
Now, believing my teacher
Telling me my potential is so much
Oh fuck
Coming back with that proper form
Used to think that I got it all
Now the thing I want is more
Went away when I dropped the ball
Coming back to come top the score
The only thing that that means is
Where I got before

I'm on my way up but I just keep fallin'
Waiting for the high to let me down slowly

I'm gon' blame it on these late nights
Hoping that it breaks my fall
I've been running through these red lights
Praying it might save my soul
'Cause I needed to go there

(Because I needed to go there
Because I needed to go there)