

You Are My God

38th Parallel

Sneering smiles fill my eyes
And laugh at tears
that fall from the weight of unspeakable fears I wonder aloud
in curious tones
"Could I be proud when they hate me and mock me ?"
What is the mind of the God that created me
I am different; I am despised
I am ever looking through the smallest of eyes
But your eyes see what mine cannot see

Chorus:

You are my God
you are life
You are the strength I need
You are the love surrounding Broken hearts
you set me free
You are my God
you are life
You are the strength I need
You are the love surrounding Broken hearts
you set me free.

The world around me is changing
All that was familiar is fading
Those I thought would never leave me left me cold
All I have from the friends that forever I'd known
All I have are names etched in headstones
And the questions of meaning and reason
These small eyes of mine can't see past this one season
But your eyes see what mine cannot see

Chorus

Show me your eyes
Show me your mind
Show me what you see
Show me your eyes
Show me your mind
Show me all I need

Chorus 3x