

The Watchtower

4th Dimension

Betrayed by my blood
Born under northern skies
Of love deprived...
An unknown fear's in me
Voice of the nameless fate I bear within...

Crying out into the wind...
Black was the day, White the night
Thus all did begin...

Beyond hate and love
Burdened by memories
My essence bleeds...

Years go by, my brothers ride
Their shadow upon my life
Sadness, cruel mate to their waste...

I dreamed of the Glory knight
A sun on my childhood
The past shares my grief
When tomorrow comes, may death be fulfilled...
Through the summer's and winter's reigns
Through the gates of time, away...
Grapes and earth, the tolling of a bell
And that tree of fire
Hate...

Black and white clash, fear has gone, I'll live...

The last veil fell from my eyes
I'm my own horizon...
Through the summer's and winter's reigns
Through the gates of time, away
I raised my sword and carved a path to when...
A time...

Through the summer's and winter's reigns
Through the gates of time, away...
Evil, goodness, virtues I once praised
I've killed, it's my own fate...