

Wind Feeds Fire

69 Chambers

We are different
We're so different, we're alike
We both gasp for air
You breathe in but it never distinguishes despair

Can't you see I'm alight cause wind feeds fire
Cant you see blowing down makes flames go higher
Can't you see I'm alight cause your wind feeds my fire
Cause baby, we're just like wind and fire

We are separate
We're so separate, we are one
Now that you've cast your storm
I will burn down my whole damn world and run

It ain't no wonder we don't get along
We only love when the love is gone
It ain't no wonder we got into a race
Where no one wins but both of us lose their face

We're just like wind and fire
