

Voltage

93FEETOSMOKE

You can be my voltage
Anytime I feel that drop
I assume you'd never move
Since you always fucking gone
I'm moving mountains with my might
But all I see is fallen tops

Broken mirrors I'll never show my face
I could probably sell my soul today
Through the wire I run away
You could be my voltage
Feel you shock me through my veins

My temple never look the same
Never look the same
My temple never look the same

You could be my voltage
Every time I feel that drop
Assume you'd never move
Since we're always fucking gone
You complete the circuit
Perfect vacuum in my thoughts

Searching for resistance
Charging up the instant
You infiltrate my thoughts
Feel you shock me through my veins
Skull house of molten membrane
Plasma in my lungs
Temple always changing
