

Never Too Late

98 Degrees

You weren't the first to pick up from where I went wrong,
But know that my heart has been aching for far too long.
Why can't you be the one to see I didn't lie,
But that your compromises hurt me on the inside.

It's never too late, for you, and me.
To be what we used to be.
It's never too late.

I want to say goodbye but I think it'll be hard,
Purposefully you walked over me still hurting from the scars.
I tried to ignore the fact deep inside I care,
But nor would I share my emotions even if I dared.

It's never too late, for you, and me.
To be what we used to be.
It's never too late.

It's never too late, for you, and me.
To change the way that we see.

It's never too late, for you, and me.
To be what we used to be.
It's never too late.

It's never too late, for you, and me.
To change the way that we see.
It's never too late.

It's never too late.
