

Deceiver

A Call to Sincerity

Now I can say that I know the game you play as the pretty face you hide beneath from your eyes and your misleading lips to the thick limb stuck between your teeth you can't prevent yourself to spit it out you can't pretend that you're innocent you can't wait for the day when you'll bring them down with empty eyes and serpents tongue, we're running in circle the perfection has never seems so real so keep contracting your throat and swallow it seems you love living your life with your stomach full

I've been here tonight and it's awaiting for you I've been here tonight and you've done things you don't wanted to show me truth before I trust you remove this mask you wear wash your regret before it's too late face the mirror before meeting the fate

you face the crowd with your eyes wet waiting the change, setting your best bet you trying to rise...
you try to rise from the deepest depts

You face the crowd with your eyes wet
waiting the change, setting your best bet
you trying to rise
you try to rise from the deepest depts

I've been here tonight and it's awaiting for you
I've been here tonight and you've done things you don't
wanted to

show me truth before I trust you
remove this mask you wear
wash your regret before it's too late
face the mirror before meeting the fate