

High Diving

A Day to Remember

I need to know what your silence says
It's like I'm trapped on an island in my head
Waitin' on a hurricane
To pass me by
This natural pattern is Like a rip current pullin' me back in
Somethin' I can't escape
A wave that never breaks

A million different voices
So many different sounds
The weight of expectation
Tries to kick me when I'm down
I wrote this to remind myself
The next time I'm freakin' out

If I'd just take a minute
To look around
I'd see I reached my limit
I'm on the edge and scared of heights
I get it
It's hard to practice what you preach
So when life is a beach
I'm high divin'

Tryna read your language is
Like a map where the X is in quicksand
It's written across your face
And I start to sink
There's a ringin' inside my head
Like a cannon firin' from both ends
The static I'm drownin' in
Seems like it never ends

A million different voices
So many different sounds
The weight of expectation
Tries to kick me when I'm down
I wrote this to remind myself
The next time I'm freakin' out

If I'd just take a minute
To look around
I'd see I reached my limit
I'm on the edge and scared of heights
I get it
It's hard to practice what you preach
When life is a beach
I'm high divin'

So put up
Or shut up
So put up
Or shut up
So put up
Or shut up
So put up

If I'd just take a minute
To look around
I'd see I reached my limit
I get it
It's hard to practice what you preach
When life is a beach
I'm high divin'
It's hard to practice what you preach
