Living at the End of the World

Sometimes it leaves me with fear Never saw the horizon this near Look to the left then to the right I tuck you in and kiss you goodnight

See there is something I know We are not whom we're told We are more than we'll never know

And we're living at the end of the world Forget about all that you've heard Living our dreams on the highway It's just another day No matter what they say or you've heard We're living on top of the world We're living our dreams on the highway No matter what they say It's just another day

I hear your heart beat in the night You are like an echo of light But in times when shallow runs deep Your golden beauty goes cheap Still there is something I know Something yet to unfold And we are more than we'll never know

And we're living at the end of the world Forget about all that you've heard Living our dreams on the highway It's just another day No matter what they say or you've heard We've made it to the top of the world Building up speed on the highway We've made it to the end Living at the end of the world

Forget about all that you've heard No matter what they say or you've heard We've made it to the top of the world Building up speed on the highway We've made it to the end of the world
