A Life Divided

You put a matrix on this world
Scanning every hurt
And you shoot a satellite in space
To another place
And another day
Has passed by
It still feels unright
I can't stop to cry
It's so hard to find
So hard to find

Is there anyone alone
Is there anyone alive
Is there anyone
Who feels the way I feel inside
Could you please my little bit
Could I get anything of it
Just for my lonely party

You crossed the seas a thousand times
Damned the wind for being blind
And you climbed the way up in the sky
For a better sight
In the darkest night
You feel cold
Wish you could hold
The air that you told
Now you're so old
Now you're so old
