

20 Block

A Loss for Words

The only life I'll ever know,
Behind these weary eyes.
just a prisoner in my mind.
You brought me up,
You broke me down.
You didn't see the future, now
These walls were built strong.
They'll never let me down.
I started down this path alone.
The voices multiplied.
We've finally found our selves a home
A place to feel alive.
You brought me up,
You broke me down.
You didn't see the future now.
These friends I found, they'll never let me down
I'm feeling so alive for the first time
In my whole life
You brought me up,
You broke me down.
You couldn't see the future now.
These bonds were built strong, they'll never let me down.
The years have passed and I have grown.
You left me in that broken home.
I built this up I stood my ground.
You couldn't see the future now.
It just takes some time...
I'm feeling so alive for the first time
In my whole life
You brought me up,
You broke me down.
You couldn't see the future now
These friends I've found, they'll never let me down