

Harbour Lights

A Silent Film

You and I know I had to leave
And the harbour lights, I cannot see
But you were my rock never my stepping stone.

I held my tongue, I turn on my heels
I couldn't look back.
I want you to know, That you were my rock never my stepping stone.

You were never a stepping stone.

We both know I cannot come home.
The water rose faster than I could run.
All my love has bruised my grieving bones.
Forgive my sins for I haven't found God
And I don't know when I can trust my heart
But you were my rock never my stepping stone.

You were a stepping stone.
You were a stepping stone.

She said I'll be your rock when the water comes
Don't waste your life on the stepping stones. (3x)

You were never a stepping stone.
You were never a stepping stone.
