

Art of Sharing Lovers

A Static Lullaby

(Screamer-Joe Brown)

The wolves are coming out tonight
Don't say you heard this coming
The wolves are coming out tonight
Oh boy you best be running
They say they saw her on the streets
They say they saw her on her knees
I hear there's been more to offer than the scent under her dress

(Dan Arnold)

We've been sharing lovers for far too long
This isn't a last goodnight
And we'll be sleeping 'til our bodies have run cold again
But you're just that suitable

(Screamer-Joe Brown)

For most to lay their hands upon
But you've made this just so simple
It's like playing doctor with the dead
They just might say you're the best they ever had

(Chorus) (Dan Arnold)

I'm not afraid, I loved something once
Are we fighting for something? We can't save them all
I can't believe we let this one go (I'm gone)

(Dan Arnold)

And I'll be making headlines if they find the body
As I attempt to erase the past

(Screamer-Joe Brown)

This is the moment where true passion is moving on
And I respect your dedication
This is the art
Of sharing lovers
This is the art
Of sharing lovers

(Chorus) (Dan Arnold)

I'm not afraid, I loved something once
Are we fighting for something? We can't save them all
I can't believe we let this one go (I'm gone)

(Screamer-Joe Brown)

I have swam in the pools of your past
Through the tides of lies running through your hair
And since I reached shore it seems I've been washed clean
Leaving you is purity

(Chorus) (Dan Arnold)

I'm not afraid, I loved something once
Are we fighting for something? We can't save them all
I can't believe we let this one go (I'm gone)
