

Eager Cannibals

A Static Lullaby

A savage thought becomes him
By the light shining through her dress
The flesh under his finger nails
The lips upon her chest
And with the night pressing on
She weakens behind his eyes
She yearns for him inside her
Collapsing by the bedside

You want more
You got more
Can't be too safe girl
It's alright
Just undress
Her lips and
His caress

We're unveiling the curves of our bodies
(We get along, along so well)
We're parasitic feeding
Off of the blood of someone else

Two bodies lie shackled
By the clinching of their fists
One body lie injected
Behind the others hip
With the sun pressing on
She weakens behind his eyes
She yearns for him inside her
Collapsing by the bedside

You're in point
Don't slow down
With a God's temptations
No sin love
It's alright
I'll be gone by the end of the night

We're unveiling the curves of our bodies
(We get along, along so well)
We're parasitic feeding
Off of the blood of someone else
We're siphoning the sex from all these feelings
(We get along, along so well)
A pulsating believing we were
were meant for sharing someone else

Why can't I feel you breathing
Behind my neck?

Can I still feel you breathing
Behind my neck?

We're unveiling the curves of our bodies
(We get along, along so well)
We're parasitic feeding
Off of the blood of someone else

We're siphoning the sex from all these feelings
(We get along, along so well)
A pulsating believing we were
were meant for sharing someone else

He awakes two souls embodied
He fell asleep between her legs
Medicate these part-time lovers
Is that love? They found love.