

February

A Thorn For Every Heart

In my country their in the distance (Every time I leave it's not the time to try)

Did you think before you got it (I'm leaving for all reasons)

Every time you breathe I hope you think of me

Those are the words you told me, told me

No questions why'd I'd have to leave (I guess it's time to leave)

One reason I restored with sleep (I'll think of what I'll be)

This moment feels like destiny (I won't dare to eat)

Won't you tell me, tell me?

You want me to always remember

You promised I always will

You'll watch and wait for my return

You promised I'm coming home

For all the lonely nights when your not feeling alone

You'll taunt the midnight sky and wish the sunrise

This the life we live, the only one that we know, these things just never ends, never ends

You want me to always remember

You promised I always will

You'll watch and wait for my return

You promised I'm coming home

It's not the time to leave, its not the last goodbye (don't know I can't resist this)

Did you think before you've all forgot it? (I'm destined to always come home)

Every time you breathe I hope you think of me

Those are the words you told me, told me

So when will it end?

When will it end?

When will it end?

When will it end?

Sometimes I don't know

Where I am

Where I'll be

Feels like I'm so far

Far away

Far away

From home