

Ice Man Left a Trail

A Wilhelm Scream

I can say you're not looking so good these days
Need some sign of relief to divide me
From what I used to know
It wasn't you making me feel alone
And I know, it couldn't be much clearer for me
So what do I keep on suffering for?
I know, you know, this don't make sense to me
Holding on, I know it's hard to believe

Well, it lately feels so easy to just run away
And the pressure, I can feel it's coming back to me

Working hard? It's hardly working at all
And I know now the way that I need to seem
Keep it down, don't make a sound
Play it off when everyone's around

I'd like to feel it could look up from here
But, guess who's already jaded?
I used to think I was invincible
Now, every last bit of false hope just leaves me miserable

Well, it lately feels so easy to just run away

And the pressure, I can feel it's finally back around

Pick your fights worth fighting for, you're learn along the way
This could all come crashing down; I'll still invest in it
I'll dance the right way to win you over
And slowly go unnoticed again

You should be playing it safer
Back to a routine, I know you're not for sure
Bring me back to the top, now I'm crawling back for more

Well, it lately feels so easy to just run away
And the pressure, I can feel it's coming back to me
Pick your fights worth fighting for, you're learn along the way
This could all come crashing down; I'll still invest in it

You know, the things that don't make sense to us
Are the things we'll suffer for
Just don't leave me alone