

Loafting

Abandon All Ships

Time went by don't know why I'm trying Took too long things went wrong now you're gone

I wish we met when we were young
No longer now, we burned up like the sun
Tainted body, mind & soul
I wish we'd known before we lost control

I waste my time on you & no matter what I do you're the voice inside my head
I'm so sick of all your lies & no matter how hard
I try I think it's time for this to die

The silence it's haunting
My demons inside
They creep up
They taunt me
I can't choose a side
I kick and I scream
A means to an end
We started as lovers
But ended not friends now

You
You wanted him to be me
What do I get from this
Still the same old shit
Not suffering but Damn where do I stand
Am I God or am I man
You understand?

Are you lying awake
Does it hurt you to see
This fucking cross I bare
So bow down to me

This hell is reserved
My palace is burnt
A longing for freedom
A place to desert me

Fuck
This house that we built
Felt like a prison you found
No one holding you in
But you still burned it fucking down
