The Catalyst

Abandoned Pools

I am on your side You light me up inside You fill my eyes with stars It doesn't get me very far

Just look around
You don't need no fairy tale
To get you by
Just look around
You don't need no Santa Claus
You don't need to make things up

But if there's something more than this I'll meet you sucked inside a kiss And if there's something more to this Then I will be the catalyst I wish I could say something beautiful to Make you fall in love again But love has slowly faded away like Spotlights shining in to space

I am on your side You light me up inside You fill my eyes with stars It doesn't get us very far

Just look around You don't need no fairy tale To get you by Just look around You don't need no Santa Claus You don't need to make things up

Just look around
You don't need no government
To get you by
Just look around
You don't need no Santa Claus
You don't need to make things up

But if there's something more than this I'll meet you sucked inside a kiss And if there's something more to this Then I will be the catalyst I wish I could say something beautiful to

Make you fall in love again
But love has slowly faded away like
Spotlights shining in Spotlights shining in to space
