

I'll Never Be Enough

Abbey Glover

I'll never be enough
And I'm a way that's okay
All I'm looking for is love
But I can never maintain it
I look in the mirror
And hate what I see
Whether it's the inside
Or the outside of me

If you ask me
"What's one thing you like about you?"
I don't think I could find one
But the things I hate I could
It'd be my brain or my body
The scars on my skin
Or the loss of love for music
I used to love singing

One day someone might want me
And I might be a fresh new me
Maybe life won't seem so grey
Instead of drowning I'm swimming
And my glass will always be half full
Not empty like me

I used to see beauty
Everywhere around me
Now I'm struggling to find it
Nothing's really exciting
Getting used to feeling nothing now
I still miss who I used to be
I guess nothing is better than feeling everything
So I built fences around me

But one day someone might want me
And I might be a fresh new me
Maybe life won't seem so grey
Instead of drowning I'm swimming
And my glass will always be half full
Not empty like me

Maybe this is how it's supposed to be for me
I'm just not used to it yet
But I will be eventually

And one day someone might want me
And I might be a fresh new me
Maybe life won't seem so grey
Instead of drowning I'm swimming
And my glass will always be half full
Not empty like me
Empty like me
