

Nightmare

Abbey Glover

Watching each snowflake slowly hit the ground
My head leaning on the window
Wishing you were still around
But I still feel you all around me
Although you make no sound
I'll climb onto the rooftops and shout
"I love you" so loud

I miss the way you made me feel
I'm hoping this is a nightmare, that this isn't real
So I'll shut my eyes and squeeze them tight
Hoping when I open them again
You'll be by my side
By my side
By my side

Maybe if I shout loud enough
The sound will travel to you
And I'll pop into your head
One random afternoon
And you can think back to the times we had
How unlike what you said
I never treated you so bad
Remember those cold and early mornings
We were holding each other so tight
After trying to keep each other warm all night

I miss the way you made me feel
I'm hoping this is a nightmare, that this isn't real
So I'll shut my eyes and squeeze them tight
Hoping when I open them again
You'll be by my side
By my side

Like when the sun's shining so bright
You can't open your eyes as wide as you'd like
It's frustrating me
Not being able to be
With the one I love
So dearly

I miss the way you made me feel
I'm hoping this is a nightmare, that this isn't real
So I'll shut my eyes and squeeze them tight
Hoping when I open them again
Hoping when I open them again

I miss the way you made me feel
I'm hoping this is a nightmare, that this isn't real
So I'll shut my eyes and squeeze them tight
Hoping when I open them again
I'm hoping when I open them again
You'll be by my side
By my side

You'll be by my side
By my side
