

Without You

Abbey Glover

Hey it's only me again
I've been wondering how you've been
And I know you want me to stop calling
This will be the last message I leave
I was told you fell in love
I hope you're happy
And I mean it with my whole heart
Even though I wish you were still in love with me

Is she prettier than me
In the morning when she wakes?
Maybe she's less annoying less demanding
Than I was most days
But you know how much I cared for you
There was nothing that I wouldn't do
And when I said I meant it with my whole heart
I lied my heart's not whole it's falling apart...
Without you

Some days I put my makeup on
And dress myself pretty
Then I forget you're not coming home
Oh silly, silly me
You know I've always been forgetful
But now I'm losing my mind
Without you, life doesn't seem as beautiful
I'm just floating watching time go by

Is she prettier than me
In the morning when she wakes?
Maybe she's less annoying less demanding
Than I was most days
But you know how much I cared for you
There was nothing that I wouldn't do
And when I said I meant it with my whole heart
I lied my heart's not whole it's falling apart...
Without you

Time heals everything
But how long is time
Because I've been sat here for what feels like forever
Slowly watching time go by

Is she prettier than me
In the morning when she wakes?
Maybe she's less annoying less demanding
Than I was most days
But you know how much I cared for you
There was nothing that I wouldn't do
And when I said I meant it with my whole heart
I lied my heart's not whole it's falling apart...

Is she prettier than me
In the morning when she wakes?
Maybe she's less annoying less demanding
Than I was most days
But you know how much I cared for you

There was nothing that I wouldn't do
And when I said I meant it with my whole heart
I lied my heart's not whole it's falling apart...
Without you
